

The Local Congregation as a Missional Outpost

WITH ALAN HIRSCH
AND KURT FREDRICKSON

DOCTOR OF MINISTRY & CONTINUING EDUCATION
FULLER THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Alan Hirsch

Alan Hirsch is the director of Forge Mission Training Network. Alan has been directly involved in church planting and mission among various sub-cultures in inner city Melbourne (Australia) for many years.

Kurt Fredrickson

Kurt Fredrickson is the Associate Dean of the Doctor of Ministry and Continuing Education and Assistant Professor of Pastoral Ministry at Fuller where he received his DMin and PhD degrees.

The only church that makes a difference in culture is a real, tangible, visible church. Too many congregations have very little impact on culture, choosing instead to live in isolation and irrelevance. Any congregation in any setting has the opportunity, and the obligation to be a missional outpost.

This course will explore theological basis for the missional church and how that identity emerges and is lived out in the practices of a local congregation.

For DMin Credit

To enroll, contact
Julia Speck at 800-999-9578
or dmin@fuller.edu

For Non-Credit

To enroll, contact
Julia Speck at 800-999-9578
or dmin@fuller.edu
Fee: $249

Come join us in Hawaii!

November
8-13, 2009

in partnership with
Pacific Rim Bible College
Honolulu, HI

Offered for credit and non-credit!